Journal of Environmental Health

Author/subject index: July/August 1988 - May/June 1989

AUTHOR	TITLE	SUBJECT									NUMBER/ PAGE
		Administration/Management	Air Quality	Chemical/Physical Hazards	Disease Prevention	Food Protection	International Issues	Solid/Hazardous Waste	Vector Control	Water/Wastewater
Archer, Douglas L.	Disease in Day Care: A Public Health Problem for the Entire Community				x						51/143
Beard, Mala L.	Integrated Vector Control: Rodenticide May Reduce the Risk of Human Plague								x		51/69
Bierma, Thomas J.	Radon Risk Factors: Evaluating the Health Implications of Home Exposure		x								51/277
Brown, Sanford M.	Inspection-Based Enforcement: In a Successful Program, the Emphasis is on Protection	x				x					51/86
Browne, Sally	Food Irradiation: A Challenge to Public Health					x					51/269
Bryan, Frank L.	Hazard Analysis Critical Control Point: What the System Is and Is Not					x					50/400
Challet, Gilbert L.	Problem-Solving at the Local Level: Organization and Management of Mosquito Control Districts	x							x		51/79
Clark, Richard	Infectious Waste: A Survey of Handling Practices in Lincoln, Nebraska			x				x			51/206
Cogger, Craig	On-Site Septic Systems: Assessing the Risk of Groundwater Contamination									x	51/12
Das, Gopal	The Effects of Home Water Softeners: Added Sodium May Be Hazardous to Your Health			x						x	50/398
Davis, Trenton G.	Chernobyl: The Aftermath Ghost Town Serves as Stark and Barren Reminder The International Conference on Environmental Protection						x				51/185
Fishbein, Gershon	Reaction to the NAS Report: Fine...But Who's Going to Pay for It?	x									51/136
Fradkin, L.	Municipal Wastewater Sludge: The Potential Public Health Impacts of Common Pathogens				x					x	51/148
Goodman, Patricia	The Implications of Times Beach: A Post-Disaster Field Study in Eastern Missouri	x		x							51/19
Goodrich, Ross E.	Infection Control: Suction Waste Management in Hospitals and Nursing Homes				x			x			51/212
Gordon, Larry	Reaction to the NAS Report: No Use in Closing Barn Doors Now	x									51/136
Hanson, Kent E.	Taking Charge: Local Governments and Hazardous Substances	x						x			51/139

AUTHOR	TITLE	SUBJECT: Administration/Management	Air Quality	Chemical/Physical Hazards	Disease Prevention	Food Protection	International Issues	Solid/Hazardous Waste	Vector Control	Water/Wastewater	NUMBER/ PAGE
Holmes, Scott E.	Gastroenteritis Outbreak: Disease Linked to Swimming Pool and Spa Use				x					x	51/286
Knetchges, Paul	Mosquito Surveillance and Control: The Development of a Successful Program on Guam	x							x		51/263
Lee, Marilyn	Control of the German Cockroach: New Product Offers Promising Test Results								x		51/76
Marsh, Gary M.	Exposure to the Drake Superfund Site: Morbidity Among Former Employees and Family Members			x				x			50/389
McClave, David	An Agenda for the Future: U.S.-Soviet Cooperation to Protect the Environment and Conserve Resources						x				51/4
McCune, Mark B.	A Blastomycosis Field Investigation: Canine Outbreak Suggests Risk to Human Health		x		x						51/22
Nebel, Diane	Women in Environmental Health: Where They Have Been and Where They Are Now	x									51/24
Noss, Richard R.	Septic System Cleaners: A Significant Threat to Groundwater									x	51/201
Peterson, Thomas C.	Bacterial Retention in Soils: New Perspectives, New Recommendations									x	51/4
Prins, Christopher	Innovative Subsurface Sewage Management: A Program to Protect Idaho's Rathdrum Prairie Aquifer									x	51/17
Raheel, Mastura	Dermal Exposure to Pesticides: The Barrier Effectiveness of Protective Clothing								x		51/82
Silverman, Gary S.	Local Agency Computerized Data Management Needs for Hazardous Material Programs	x						x			50/395
Stone, Janis F.	Pesticide Residues in Clothing: Case Study of a Midwestern Farmer's Coverall Contamination								x		51/273
Struck, Philip H.	The Relationship Between Sediment and Fecal Coliform Levels in a Puget Sound Estuary				x					x	50/403
Walker, Jr., Bailus	The Future of Public Health: An Analysis of the NAS Report and its Implications for Environmental Health	x									51/133
Yahya, Moyasar T.	Swimming Pool Disinfection: An Evaluation of the Efficacy of Copper:Silver Ions									x	51/282